The expenditures for the library during the year ending September 30, 1864, were as follows:—

Books, pamphlets, periodicals, and maps,	$2,291 70
Binding and stationery,	314 73
Expense of postage, transportation, and purchasing, exclusive of foreign exchange, and commissions,	64 41
Total expenditure,	$2,670 84

The means at the disposal of the Trustees, for the use of the library, were:—

Balance on hand, October 1, 1863,	$530 57
Unexpended balance of appropriation for 1863,	800 00
Annual appropriation for 1864,	2,300 00
Received under the Act making appropriations for deficiencies,	30 00
Total receipts,	$3,660 5
Balance on hand October 1, 1864, to be carried to the account of next year,	$989 73

The sum remaining to the credit of the library would have been considerably diminished if our foreign agent had not been restrained from making intended purchases by the extreme cost of exchange; and if there had not been an expectation that American publications could soon be procured at such reduced prices as to justify some delay in the disbursement of our funds. The unexpended balance, however, is not larger than will be needed for current expenditures, as more than one-half of our financial year will pass before any portion of another annual appropriation will be received.

The additions from October 1, 1863, to September 30, 1864, were: by purchase, 1,111 volumes, 109 pamphlets; by domestic exchanges, 193 volumes, 29 pamphlets; by foreign exchanges, 28 volumes, 241 pamphlets; by donations of individuals and societies, 36 volumes, 125 pamphlets; received from the Commonwealth, 78 volumes, 45 pamphlets; making the whole number added, 1,446 volumes, and 549 pamphlets, besides 14 maps.

The labor of making a selection of works appropriate to the special character of the library has been more difficult than in any former year, through the effect of our great civil conflict upon the trade in books. The high rate of exchanges has rendered it inexpedient to import them, or to purchase those recently imported, except to a very limited extent, as their cost was increased from one to two hundred per cent. This advance has nearly closed against us the foreign market. At the same time, books of the character wanted that were imported before the war or before the rise in exchanges, were an insufficient supply that was soon exhausted by the eager competition of purchasers. The number of large private and public libraries in our country is now so great, that their annual increase creates a vast demand for the best foreign works, and this demand upon a reduced supply has rendered the most desirable selection difficult, or quite impracticable. The expense, also, of American publications, as of all other productions of labor and skill, has been much enhanced. Yet the library has been furnished with nearly all the most suitable works recently issued by American publishers, and supplied at the regular trade prices.

Several gentlemen have made donations, whose thoughtful regard for the interests of the library is worthy of grateful acknowledgement. We are indebted for favors to a portion of our representatives and to our senators in Congress, especially to Hon. Henry Wilson, who for several years has furnished the Congressional Debates and many valuable documents; also to Edward Jarvis, M. D., who at different times has presented a variety of pamphlets and reports, of statistical value, and relating to sanitary, reformatory, charitable, and other institutions; also to other individuals, as well as to some associations, for important publications, whose names appear in connection with their gifts, in the previous pages of this Report. We would particularly acknowledge our obligation to William Allen, Esq., of East Bridgewater, whose liberality and whose desire to preserve the historic treasures of the State, have prompted him to bestow a collection of ancient Election Sermons, and to aid us gratuitously in perfecting our series now complete from 1790, besides embracing many discourses of a previous date.

Interstate exchanges during the year have been confined entirely to the loyal States, nothing having been received from the insurgent States since their attempted withdrawal from the Union. Louisiana, now free and loyal, has recently transmitted the Journal of her late Constitutional Convention, which came too late to be included in this Report. State publications have also been received, for the first time, from the new and free State of West Virginia.

The expense of exchanges between the several States, and between them and the United States, has been increased by a recent change in the postage law. Under the provisions of previous laws, State documents could be sent by the governor of any one State to the governors of every other State, under frank, and were thus furnished to State libraries without any cost. They are now transported only by express, which accounts for the increase in this item of expense.

Of the Plymouth Records deposited in the library for exchange two sets have been furnished during the year: one to the library of Wabash College, the other to the library of the Catholic University of Notre Dame, both in the State of Indiana. The volumes to be sent in return will be duly acknowledged when received.

It was stated in the last annual report that the library had a duplicate series of Congressional Documents and State Papers quite complete for a succession of years, which is of great value as the beginning and basis of a State library in one of our new States. Against solicitations and offers to dispose of it, in parts, or in detached volumes in order to complete deficient sets in other libraries, it has been preserved entire, with the hope that it might subserve the purpose indicated. By extending and perpetuating a knowledge of our national and political history among the rulers and people of a newly organized State, it may gratify the patriotic desire of Massachusetts to contribute to the welfare and permanence of our cherished Union, soon to be restored to its integrity and to a perpetual triumph of its power and patriotism. In accordance with this purpose a correspondence is to be opened, under the direction of the Trustees, which may lead to a negotiation, and to an ultimate disposition of this extra set of National State Papers.

The library has also upon its shelves a large number of duplicate volumes of the Laws and Law Reports of the different States, in sets more or less perfect, which might aid other State libraries to complete an imperfect series, and should be disposed of for this purpose.

One motive for the removal of our supernumerary books, is the prospective need, which will soon be urgent, of the room they occupy. Additional shelves were provided through a small appropriation made some two years since, yet such is the accumulation of duplicates, and of State publications deposited for distribution, under an order of the legislature, and such is the growth of the library by the regular annual additions to it, that further accommodations are needed. Another appropriation is therefore respectfully requested, to defray the expense of providing further facilities for a proper disposition and arrangement of our accessions.

At the beginning of the last session of the legislature, a desire was expressed by some of the members that the regulations of the library, in respect to their access to it and use of it, should be printed for their information. The rules which had been observed in its management ever since it was transferred to the new library-room were accordingly presented in a printed form, and included in the "Manual of the General Court," after having been considered and approved by the Trustees. They are the following:—

The Library is open during the Session of the Legislature, each day, without intermission, from nine, A. M. to five, P. M., except on Saturday, P. M., when it is closed at one o'clock, for sweeping, dusting, &c.

All persons may use the Library for consultation or reference.

Members of the Legislature may enter any alcove, and consult or peruse any book at their pleasure.

Members may take any of the miscellaneous books to their lodgings, and retain them for a reasonable time.

The Statutes, Law Reports, State Papers, Journals, Dictionaries, Encyclopædias, &c., &c., may be taken to any part of the State House, but are not to be removed from it, except in special cases.

Any member wishing to have access to any or all parts of the Library, can be furnished with a key which will open every alcove, on application to one of the Assistants, the key to be returned before leaving the Library-room.

Members taking books from the shelves are requested to be particularly careful to return them to their proper places, or to leave them on the tables to be replaced by the attendants.

No book is to be taken by a member from the Library-room without its being charged to him.

Books used at a hearing before a committee are to be charged to some member of the committee, or of the Legislature, and not to counsel or parties in the case pending.

Any member having special occasion to use the Library in the evening, or at any hour after it is closed, can have access to it through one of the watchmen in charge of the building.

These regulations, it is believed, were entirely satisfactory to all persons officially connected with either branch of the government, as affording all the facilities required by their convenience, and consistent with the safety and protection of the books.

Respectfully submitted.

JOSEPH WHITE, Librarian.

STATE LIBRARY, October 8, 1864.
